December 7, 2017

James Wyse will speak on December 7, 2017 at a roundtable discussion sponsored by the Land Protection Cooperative Group, an organization funded through the William Penn Foundation to help individuals share information, assess and improve Delaware River Watershed Initiative practices, collaborate, identify and access existing technical resources, and explore other opportunities to advance land protection.

Mr. Wyse will be joined by Pennsylvania attorney, Patricia Pregmon. Topics will include challenges and issues related to land protection and real estate transactions. The event will be held in Quakertown, PA.
